OBPLAN Description: Animated icons for inserting, editing, and removing documents. This program is an easy-to-use Windows utility that is intended to make it easy to work with both standard Windows documents (such as word processor or spreadsheet files) and enhanced documents, such as forms and reports. It can also help automate common editing tasks that require manual labor, such as entering repeating sections of text or numbers. The software includes a menu of tools that can be used to make text bold, change the color of text, or insert various styles. Features include text layout, font-size, and color change tools; a table- and spreadsheet-formatting tool; and tools to find or replace all instances of a string of text in a document. The program can also be used to print documents and to save files to disk.

January 25, 2016 A series of 15-minute PSAs will be produced as part of a public service campaign across the State to raise awareness about child and youth homelessness. Photo credit: Flickr/Mark Wahlberg

Child and youth homelessness in Ireland has been identified by the State as a priority area for action by the Children's Ombudsman. The plan in response to this has been to produce a series of 15-minute PSAs highlighting the seriousness of the situation, and setting out concrete ways of tackling it. These PSAs are intended to be used in a range of local media, including TV, radio, online and social media. A number of our partners, including the Big Issue, have expressed an interest in distributing them. The PSAs will be branded with the term #GetJug. What is the term #GetJug used for? #GetJug is a term being used to raise awareness about child and youth homelessness in Ireland. It was developed by our partners at Finn Bros. The Finn Bros. Store in Lidl on City Quays Road was the first to use #GetJug as part of their anti-homelessness campaign. Who is Finn Bros? Finn Bros. is the largest independent retailer of quality Irish produce, operating over 500 stores throughout Ireland
