The first full day of the MLS SuperDraft just wrapped up, and the biggest news out of it so far may have come from FC Cincinnati. The expansion team, who will join MLS in 2018, drafted two of the most impressive forwards in the draft - Kenney Walker and Marcus Epps. Walker was the top-rated forward on the board when the 21st pick rolled around. The UCF forward just finished his third year with the Knights, and he made a name for himself as one of the best scoring threats in Conference USA, finishing with a goal-a-game in conference play. He's physical, and he can beat you with his speed and ability to glide past defenders. Walker has spent most of his career in Orlando, so his selection is somewhat surprising - and the timing is also interesting. In Orlando, Walker will likely line up with Dillon Serna, Kaka and Cyle Larin up top. However, Cincinnati wanted to shake things up a bit - and may have done just that. Epps was the second-ranked forward on the board, and the first overall
